Ox a recent night (says the Japan Mail) when the moonlight had begun to make shadows in one of the geisha alleys of Shimbashi, a girl's voice was heard crying out excitedly. Look at the cat danning! There was an immediate clatter of pattens, and an audience of the fair but frail denizens of the district assembled quickly to witness the prodicy. Certainly there was a cat dancing in the moonlight on the cayes of one of the houses. She was not dancing after the fashion of European ballet-girls, but was waving her fore-paws and pacing with her hind after the orthodox methods of the Japanese minuet. A wag had joined the crowd suggested that the cat had become intoxicated with the atmosadvantage of a fortuitous samisen, to C.M.S. But the cat free of charge. danced more vigorously than ever, though the strains of the samuen had ceased to be heard. Finally, the plucky lady seized the cat and carried her down, when the source of the dancing inspiration was at once dis covered. Puss had a class-shell fixed over each of her whiskers. She had incautiously assayed to steal one of the bivalves lying shall open in a pail of water, and the claim had chaped her muzzle and set her dancing in the moonlight. In the early part of the year Lady Robinson in her speach, when very kindly presenting the prizes to the girls in the School, promised to head a subscription list. The Hon. A EUROPEAN SCHOOL FOR KOW LOON.

PUBLIC MEETING OF RESIDENTS. A public meeting of European residents in Kowloon was held last night in Kowloon Hotel. There was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen.

On the motion of Mr G. J. B. Sayer, seconded by Mr H. Cook, Mr H. J. Holmes ject. was called upon to preside.

The Chairman said -- We have met tonight to consider the question of starting a school at Kowloon. Several of the residents have spoken to me lately about it, and the desire appears to be general that if we could get a school started here for European children with a proper master it would be a great benefit to all the residents in Kowloon. At present there is a great difficulty with regard to the education of children from Kowloon. It is very objectionable having to send them over to Hongkong, especially in the summer months when it is so hot, and it would be very much better for the children to have the advantage of being educated here instead of making the long journey to the schools in Hongkong. is lost in going to and from Hongkoug, and Reichstag to make a decision so fraught ought to weigh with the authorities in by a tariff war, and at not a remote period

New York, February 7 .-- Un to noon today the Sub-treasury tiad received about $34,500,000 of gold on scoonat of the new bonds. The total amount to be received at the Sub-treasury here is about $59,000,000. Just how much of the $34,500,000 of gold already received bore is new gold, that is, gold that has not been previously withdrawn out of the Sub-treasury by the redemption of greenbacks for the purpose of paying for the bends, the Treasury officials were not able to say to-day.

It has been noticed, however, during the last few days that the redemption of greenbacks has been unusually heavy, as much as 21 000,000 having been presented for that purpose in one lot. So far from suffering any serious drain on its gold, the Treasury is likely rather to be used as a dumping ground for the oversupply which seems to have become burdensome to many banks. Signs abound that in some of the larger cities it will be a positive relief to get the plethers of gold reduced. Offers have been made lately from several quarters of all the gold the Treasury would accept in exchange for paper of any sort, even silver certificates. The trouble is that the supply of paper is too low to permit compliance.
